

NOT FOR SALE

To be used as a game for bonding between friends/family. To relive your childhood memories of when you lost to your elder brother and cried like a bitch soon after. To bring glory back to a club that has not seen much silverware in recent years. To keep buying tasty chocolate bars on the pretense that you would share said tasty chocolate bar with your spouse/offspring/sibling and use the aluminium foil for your matches.

shahrulazmi.com
photography • illustration • graphic design